

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Regardless of the candidate a person intends to vote for, forcing stations to air anti or pro information is against what America and democracy stands for and I feel that Sinclair broadcasting is abusing their license and its renewal should be examined carefully.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
